The chair then placed before the senate Mr. Riddleberger's resolution and Mr. Pugh's substitute relating to the relations between the president and the senate in regard to information affecting government officers suspended or appointed.

Mr. Hale asked that unanimous consent be granted the gentleman from Virginia to proceed.

Mr. Ven Wyck took a similar view and would so move it in order.

The chair and that motion would not be in order at this time.

By unanimous consent Mr. Riddleberger proceeded. He did not object to the first three sections of the substitute, but when he came to the remaining sections he differed with Mr. Pugh. His (Mr. Riddleberger's) resolution merely involved two propositions, namely, that we had no right to require from the president reasons for removals or

The senator from Alabama professed ignorance of parliamentary law, but inquired of the clerk if the object of the resolution lay on the table was not to cut off debate. The clerk replied that it had that effect. Mr. Pugh said he would never have offered the resolution if this question had not been presented by a leading Republican. At this point Mr. Conger rose to a point of order that debate was not in order, and the question was put on Mr. Edmunds' resolution.

Mr. Daves offered a resolution directing the secretary of the interior to transmit to the senate copies of all papers promissed to any officer of the interior department touching the official and personal conduct of Henry Ward, inspector during his continuance in office.

On objection by Mr. Cockrell the resolution went over.

Mr. Riddleberger, by unanimous consent again called up the resolution and explained that Mr. Lugals having expressed a desire to move to refer it to the committee on privileges and elections he called it up in order that the senate might not lose sight of it.

Mr. Morgan submitted a motion that the senate take a recess from 3 to 2:30 p. m., remarking (sarcastically) that senators took House.

Feb. 4.—Mr. Blend, of Missouri, from committee on coinage weights and measures, attempted to report back his resolution of Monday, calling on the secretary of the treasury for information regarding silver circulation, but Mr. Morrison raised the point of order that a report accompanied the resolution, and it was then withdrawn for present.

Mr. Nelson of Minnesota called up the joint resolution regarding relief to Northern Cheyenne Indians with some senate amendments, two of which were correcting errors in spelling and one changing the resolution to a bill. The amendments were agreed to.

Mr. Brand having prepared a short report again submitted his preamble and resolution. As amended the resolution strikes out the clause reading: "The treasury department ment assumes to virtually suspend the coinage of silver by hoarding the money in the treasury after it is coined."

Mr. Morrison would not object to the reservation, but thought that it went too far in asking what was to be the policy of the treasury department.

Mr. Brand replied that the past policy of the administration was known and that it was proper that congress should know whether it was to be pursued or not.

After further debate Mr. Hewitt moved to recommit the resolution with instructions to the senate to make the reservation which asks the secretary of the treasury to define the policy of the administration.

THE train due here at 11 a. m. yesterday did not arrive until nearly 4 o'clock. The delay was caused by the heavy snow in the central part of the State.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla wonderfully improves the complexion, and brings to old and young the bloom of health. As a purifier of the blood it has no equal.

CAREY MITCHELL, of Bourbon County, grew 20-300 pounds of tobacco on fourteen acres last season. It averaged 2122 pounds to the acre, and was sold at $9.15 per hundred.

MR. ED. COOK and brother will open a full line of clothing and gent's furnishings goods Saturday in the building on Second street, adjoining the State National Bank. Their store is entirely new, and our readers should not fail to give them a call.

Stop that cough, by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral—the best specific ever known for all diseases of the throat and lungs. It will soothe the rough feeling in your throat, give the vocal organs flexibility and vitality, and enable you to breathe and speak clearly.

HAVE used Tongaline in a case to prevent recurrence of neuralgia, and am very much pleased with the result. It has been more efficacious in producing relief than any other remedy I have ever used in that case.—[T. P. Oliver, M. D., Ogletown, Macon County, Ga.]

THE Millersburg correspondent of the Bourbon News says: "Two fraudulent insurance agents—sharpers who put on the weak here last week and soaked a few of our citizens. Their game was to collect cash in advance and leave bogus policies. One party stopped payment of a check in the nick of time. They offered to discount notes at the most unreasonable rates."

MR. JOHN W. TAYLOR and Miss Barbara E. Chadwick, an eloping couple from Fleming County, arrived on the train between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday on their way to Aberdeen. They found the river full of ice, and concluded, as they were both of age, to be married in this city. Procuring a license they called in the services of Justice M. F. Marsh, and the words were soon spoken that "made the twain one." The newly-wedded and their friends left shortly afterwards for their home.

Tux concert at the Baptist Church to be given on Tuesday night, February 10th promises to be a very brilliant affair. Madam Flora Macintosh, lately of New York, who will sing on this occasion, has won laurels in Stewarts Hall, New York as a brilliant and effective solo singer. It is seldom such artists chance to visit Mayville and music lovers should not miss this opportunity. Besides many of the best singers of this city will take part in the entertainment. Professor A. Frost will act as soloist and accompanist on the occasion.

AMONG the passengers on the train that arrived here about 4 o'clock yesterday was a runaway couple from near Cynthiana. They had eluded the vigilance of the would-be bride's parents the night before, and had made their way in a buggy, through the snow storm that prevailed to Millersburg. The train was four or five hours late, and feared that their parents would overtake them. If they remained there, they stood upon the road to a flag station between that place and Paris, where they waited with anxious hearts for the train. They were expecting the officers to be ready to nab them on their arrival here, and remained hidden in the coach until a young man who accompanied them reconnoitered and found that the coast was clear. They lost no time in hurrying to the river, and, not at all deterred by the heavy, floating ice, were soon transported to Aberdeen, that haven of happiness for all runaway couples.

He Was Looking for the Doctors' Office.

He was looking for the Pension Examiners' office, but mistook the room and struck a printing office on the other side of the hallway. Although he was strong and robust looking, he made three or four efforts before he got the door open. He then moved across the threshold slowly, very slowly—taking about three inches at a step—and, judging from his countenance, every move he made was causing excruciating pain and suffering. After making three or four more feeble efforts, he seemed to give up, and, giving up in despair of ever succeeding in closing the door, but at last he managed to accomplish the seemingly difficult job. About this time the editor became aware of his presence, and with the usual salutation and a wave of the hand, invited the pension-seeker to a chair, and then resumed writing. The strong, robust looking fellow, who was probably seeking to make "Uncle Sam" pay him $8 or $10 a month for a disability he never was troubled with, or one which was never contracted while fighting the enemies of his country; dragged himself slowly across the room to the chair and painfully took his seat. A silence of several minutes ensued. The editor was still busily writing.

Presently, pension-seeker (in very weak voice): "Will the doctors be in soon?"

Editor—(dropping out the fellow's business): "My friend, you have mistaken the place."

Pension seeker—(with surprise and a much stronger tone): "I have? Then where is it?"

The editor gave him directions and the fellow hustled out in a big hurry, and with no trouble at all, and was seen a little later climbing a pair of stairs at a lively gait, hunting for the "doctors."

The editor soon resumed work in the "big arm chair by the stove" and wondered to himself how many "frauds and swindlers" were drawing money from the Government for sickness or disability contracted since the "late unpleasantness" was ended, or never contracted at all.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

In Memory of Mr. A. T. Cox, Deceased.

At a meeting of the Session of the Central Presbyterian Church of Mayville, Ky., the following resolutions were offered by Elder G. W. Batterman who was appointed at a previous meeting a committee to prepare a suitable paper commemorative of Elder Andrew T. Cox:

A dark cloud of sorrow hung over this church and the community, the morning that departed in the New Year 1896, when it was ascertained that our beloved brother Andrew T. Cox had fallen in the arms of death.

As a member of our church, we shall never cease to cherish the memory of the many virtues and the high Christian character of our departed brother; we bear testimony to his piety, his faith, his love, his courage and his liberality. We shall miss him as a colleague and a pleasant comrade in our church work.

But our sympathy for his family is a personal one, and we shall not fail to cheer and comfort them in their bereavement. We shall also pray that his co-laborers will pray that grace may be furnished to his family to carry forward the work of this church, sustained by the resolution of the active members of our church.

The faithful emblems of mourning be placed in this church, as commemorative, to remain for twenty days, and that a suitable memorial service be held in this church on Sunday, Feb. 9th, 1898.

Resolved, that we be kept upon the records of this church, and that a copy be sent to his family, to be carried forward in the Christian Observer and in the Mayville civil papers. Resolved, that we be kept upon the records of this church.

W. T. MANNING, Pastor.
G. W. BATTERMAN, Elders.
J. J. WOOD, Elders.

Legislative Notes.

A bill has been introduced in the House to test the constitutionality of laws by allowing a petition to be filed directly in the Court of Appeals, instead of going through the expensive form now in existence.

The following are among the bills of a general character now before the House:

"An act to regulate allowances to pauper idiots."

An act to prevent the illegal sale of opium, vintages and malt liquors and mixtures thereof, and all intoxicating drinks."

An act to prevent extortion and discrimination in the transportation of freight by railroads in this Commonwealth."

An act to forbid the exercise of any railroad corporation which fails to construct and equip and put in operation its proposed line within a certain time."

An act to exempt school teachers in actual service from service on juries."

Foreign Business.

"Didn't the experienced grain buyer of the new recruit."

"Go through the car" said the grain buyer a peasant."

The new recruit did so.

"Now, turn again," said the train boy, of experience.

Presently the new recruit came away more penniless.

"You want to keep your eyes open about this business young fellow," admonished the expert, reilling the basket. "Anybody'll eat a peanut without don't cost him anything," when once you give him a peanut."

"You've got to study human nature."

SCHOOL NOTES.

NUMBER THIRTY-ONE—CHARLES BROWN.

Census report, 51; number on roll, 23; highest attendance, 20; lowest attendance, 7; average attendance, 15.

The school house is frame, and though small, is comfortable. The teacher writes of the furniture:

"The furniture is comfortable, but a little too high for small children to write of study with any comfort." This is not exceptional. There is a lack of care as to the comfort of the pupils in the furniture of almost all districts.

The trustees are Rufus Robinson, Charles Peers and Nicholas Richardson. Mr. Robinson has visited the school and the patrons of the district supplemented the public fund with $45 for the teacher's salary.

Miss Annie H. Parle is teaching her first session here. She has read "Parker's Talks on Teaching," and "Currie's Methods in the Common School," this year. Miss Parle is an energetic and painstaking teacher, and succeeds in maintaining good deportment and securing the best efforts of her pupils. Her response to the query as to whether she used the best language of the text book is so apt that I must quote it. She says: "I do not require the exact language of the text book. I think a child, if he thoroughly understands the subject of his lesson, will invariably clothe his ideas in his own language."

NUMBER THIRTY-THREE—PLEASANT RIDGE.

Census report, 84; number on roll, 32; highest attendance, 26; lowest attendance, 7; average attendance, 17.

The house is a new frame and handsomely situated. It is to be hoped that the patrons will observe ardent duty next spring.

This school is situated in Third or Fifth districts. The value of the house is furnished at $300. The house is comfortably furnished for the number of pupils in attendance. Milton M. Gentry, John Wells and James Kennard are trustees. Mr. Wells and Mr. Kennard have visited the school. There is a very marked interest in the public school in this district.

Miss A. L. Rhodes is teaching her first school here. She has read "Parker's Talks on Teaching," and "Currie's Methods in the Common School," this year. Miss Rhodes is an energetic and painstaking teacher, and succeeds in maintaining good deportment and securing the best efforts of her pupils.
